A firm foundation to any creative endeavor is the ability to draw and the ability to see our surroundings with "an artist's eye". This way of looking enables the artist to see positive and negative shapes, form and variations in value. Throughout the class, contour and gesture drawing exercises will develop the student's expressive line quality and students will also work on longer more studied renderings. A variety of media will be explored such as charcoal, graphite, ink, coloured pencil and pastel using photographs and still life objects for inspiration. No previous experience is required.
